Jesus Want to be friends with Us - Apostleship of Prayer

We often try to understand the meaning of our lives. For Christians, the answer is very clear: Jesus shows us the way. As we get to know Jesus in our everyday lives, God slowly reveals his will to us.

Listen to his call! That is precisely the great secret. Even if we feel lost, even if we are distracted and preoccupied with so many things, Jesus continually calls out to us. In particular, it is a call to friendship with him ... If we were friends with Jesus, we would look at the world as the creation that God the Father gave us to be good stewards. We would also look at others as brothers and sisters to whom we lay down our lives for love. Last of all, we would look at ourselves as beloved children of God, who are never abandoned by him, even when we are suffering or in sin. If we looked at and felt all things in this way, would we not live a happier life?

Stewardship Reflection

August 11, 2019 - 19th Sunday in Ordinary Time

*"For where your treasure is, there also will your heart be."
(Luke 12:34)*

Jesus encourages us to build up our treasure in heaven. The world encourages us to build up our treasure in real estate, investments, and material goods. How much time are you investing in building up a worldly treasure? How much time are you investing in building up a heavenly treasure? To invest more time in the things of heaven, you must let go of some of the things of this world.

The Memorare of St. Bernard

Remember, O most gracious Virgin Mary, that never was it known that anyone who fled to your protection, implored your help, or sought your intercession, was left unaided. Inspired by this confidence, I fly unto you, O Virgin of virgins, my Mother. To you do I come, before you I stand, sinful and sorrowful. O Mother of the Word Incarnate, despise not my petitions, but in your mercy, hear and answer me. Amen.
