Twenty Third Sunday in Ordinary Time

"The Gospel for today's liturgy presents Jesus who heals a deaf man with a speech impediment. In other healings, for infirmities as serious as paralysis or leprosy, Jesus did not do as many things. The condition of deafness is also a symbol that can say something to all of us. That man was unable to speak because he could not hear. To heal the cause of his infirmity, Jesus, in fact, placed his fingers first of all in the man's ears, then his mouth, but his ears first.

We all have ears, but very often we are not able to hear. Taken up with haste, by so many things to say and do, we do not find time to stop and listen to those who speak to us. We run the risk of becoming impervious to everything and not making room for those who need to be heard. Let us ask ourselves: how is my capacity to listen going? To all of us: first listen, then respond. Think about family life: how many times do we talk without listening first, repeating the same things, always the same things! Starting a dialogue often happens not through words but silence, by not insisting, by patiently beginning anew to listen to others, hearing about their struggles and what they carry inside.

The healing of the heart begins with listening. This is what restores the heart. "But Father, there are boring people who say the same things over and over again..." Listen to them. And then, when they have finished talking, you may speak, but listen to everything.

And the same is true with the Lord. It is good to inundate Him with requests, but it is better that we first of all listen to him. Do we remember to listen to the Lord? We are Christians, but sometimes with the thousands of words we hear every day, we do not find a moment to let a few words of the Gospel resound in us. Jesus is the Word: if we do not stop to listen to Him, He moves on. But if we dedicate time to the Gospel, we will find the secret for our spiritual health.

Today, as on the day of our Baptism, we hear the words of Jesus addressed to us: "Ephphatha, be opened!" Open your ears. Jesus, I want to open myself to your Word; Jesus, open myself to listening to you; Jesus, heal my heart from being closed, heal my heart from haste, heal my heart from impatience."

Stewardship September 8, 2024 23rd Sunday in Ordinary Time

"Did not God choose those who are poor in the world to be rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom that he promised to those who love him?" - James 2:5

What is more important – being rich in faith or rich in possessions? Society tells us that possessions are most important. God teaches a different lesson. When we are rich in faith, we keep God first and experience true joy and peace. When we put possessions first, we soon realize we can never have enough, and happiness is fleeting. When we put faith over possessions, we truly realize it is better to give than receive
